SUMMARY: Declared disaster areas for recent flooding in Ohio and Kentucky.

Dear Guaranty Agency Director:

On March 4, President Clinton declared the following 14 counties in Ohio to be disaster areas because of severe flooding that struck those areas beginning February 28. Also on March 4, the President declared the following 9 counties in Kentucky to be disaster areas because of severe flooding that began in those counties on March 1:

Ohio: Adams, Athens, Brown, Gallia, Hocking, Jackson, Lawrence, Meigs, Monroe, Pike, Ross, Scioto, Vinton, and Washington.

Kentucky: Bourbon, Bracken, Bullitt, Franklin, Hardin, Harrison, Jefferson, Pendleton, and Powell.

The list of designated disaster areas for borrower-initiated 90-day forbearances under the guidelines first outlined in the January 14, 1997 "Dear Guaranty Agency Director" letter is complete as of the date of this letter. We will notify you if additional areas are designated by the President or the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) after the date of this letter. Lenders and guaranty agencies may contact the Department's toll-free number at 1-800-433-7327, Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. EST for further updates. This letter has also been sent to each regional office of the Department, plus the National Council of Higher Education Loan Programs, Inc., the Consumer Bankers Association, and the National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators.

Sincerely,

Pamela A. Moran
